Learning Plan Guidelines & Hybrid Learning Activities

Field education programs must ensure that demonstration of social work competencies is through in-person contact, which refers to interpersonal interactions with clients and constituencies, and may include the use of digital technologies (AS 2.2.4, 2015 EPAS Interpretation Guide). The EPAS allow for technology-based social work practice (e.g., telehealth, telework, phone contact with colleagues, clients, and constituents, remote access to platforms and projects, etc.).

Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) Guidance: Accreditation Standard (AS) 2.2.4: Current COA interpretation allows “in-person” contact to be accomplished through digital technologies. There is neither a minimum requirement regarding direct client contact hours nor a maximum regarding virtual contact hours.

a) Developing Your Learning Plan

As students begin developing their Learning Plan for their Foundational or Advanced placements, they are encouraged to use these guidelines to ensure their approach and activities meet field requirements.

All Learning Plan activities must include: 1) the student action, and 2) the way in which action or activity completion will be verified by their field supervisor.

The example below includes both the action and the verification aspect.

Activity Example: I will complete research focusing on expanding services to marginalized groups, such as immigrants and refugees, and provide a “report out” during a staff meeting to share my findings.

Learning Plan Guidelines

One (1) activity minimum: For each open practice behavior listed within a competency, students should include a minimum of one meaningful activity as well as a method to verify the activity was completed.

1. Required activities: The UK CoSW has integrated some required activities into the Learning Plan.
2. Personalize activities: Students should develop activities using 1st person language and use “I will” action statements.
3. Tailor to issue/agency/population: Activities should be tailored to reflect the placement agency, service arena, and strategies in working with the agency’s target populations. Sample activities and examples from this document may be used to inspire activities. Generic/vague activities should be tailored by the student to their specific placement and goals.
4. Verification – Students should include a variety of ways that their completion of learning activities can be verified. Reflecting on the question, “How will my supervisor know that I complete this?” is a good way to determine the verification method for each activity. Students must include this 2nd step that closes the loop on the activity for assessment purposes.

Methods to verify activity completion may include:

- Discussing the activity during supervision
  - Developing and discussing a written document based on conducted research/exploration, such as a report, fact sheet, summary, or proposal.
  - Developing and discussing a written reflection that documents your thoughts and observations, such as a process recording, critical case incident, or competency reflection
  - Attendance and/or participation at a specific event
5. Evaluation: Students may consider including a student evaluation activity that expands on their major accomplishments, what worked well during the experience, what could be improved upon, and recommendations for improvements to student and client experiences.

b) Agency-Connected Learning Activity Areas

In support of fulfilling students' field requirements and educational competencies, remote opportunities may be needed throughout the semester to support their in-agency learning.

Field Instructors and Task Supervisors should include off-site field learning activities that students may complete in the event of a temporary field disruption and/or agency closures. The following examples of potential activities should be tailored to student's agency and is not an exhaustive list. Field Instructors and Task Supervisors may develop other activities or trainings in addition to those provided.

Practicum Activity Descriptions: The following descriptions may be helpful in categorizing field hours based on activities. Students should consider the intention when assigning time and not just the nature of the activity. There can multiple ways to identify field work. For example, communicating with an agency stakeholder might fall under client contact or meetings/conferences, depending on context.

- Client Contact – (includes micro-mezzo-macro client systems) i.e. phone contact, emails, therapy sessions, in-person, virtual; individuals, groups, organizations, communities, and institutional client systems are included in this category.
- Supervisory Conferences – Weekly meetings with Field Instructor, Task Supervisor, other supervision sessions, etc.
- Orientation or Training – New student/volunteer orientation, trainings, and ongoing professional development.
- Meetings/Conferences outside Agency – Attending or collaborating with external groups and organizations, including community stakeholder groups, task forces, community partner meetings, etc.
- Observation of Others – Observing a client session, program meeting, MDT, etc.
- Paperwork/Documentation – Creating plans, reviewing/revising manuals, and developing documents; developing Field Learning Plan, assessments, and timesheets; drafting grant proposals, research summaries and internal memos; documenting client case notes, group summaries, etc.
- Policy/Advocacy Work – Outreach, education, and Social media; researching policy strategies and solutions; drafting issue briefs, contacting stakeholder groups regarding policy initiatives; actively campaigning; conducting communications for purpose of policy education or activism/advocacy.

- Evaluation Work – Reviewing research and program evaluation data; compiling reporting materials; conducting key informant interviews, focus groups, and other forms of quantitative/qualitative research.
- Seminar Participation –Completing seminar assignments including discussions, reports, group work, and attendance of live/synchronous sessions. Students may not go over a maximum of 25 hours towards seminar participation in classes with required seminar activities and assessments.
- Other Hours – Self-care, related-learning experiences, etc.

c) Remote Learning Activities by Social Work Competencies

The following activity examples are organized by the social work competency that each support. The following examples of potential activities should be tailored to student’s agency and are not exclusive to these competency areas. Included are links to supplemental opportunities as it relates to each competency for use when developing the Learning Plan.

Competency 1: Demonstrate Ethical and Professional Behavior

- Appropriate and timely use of email, virtual supervision, and communication during uncertain times
- Develop new workplan, including due dates, for written products to be submitted to the Field Instructor while working remotely
- Select a standard in the NASW Code of Ethics. Reflect in writing on differences or points of tension between the Code and agency policy/procedure and/or services.
- Read literature on the Code of Ethics and write a summary about how it applies to social work practice
- Review an ethics-related case study identified by the Field Instructor/Task Supervisor or Course Instructor, OR reflect on a personal experience regarding ethical dilemma in field and respond in writing to factors that must be considered
- Review history of NASW Code of Ethics. Reflect on its evolution to address gaps. Identify specific areas where gaps remain
- Review an ethical decision-making model (sample: <https://www.naswma.org/page/100/Essential-Steps-for-Ethical-Problem-Solving.htm>) and use this to analyze an ethical dilemma from your agency
- Identify Ted Talks, YouTube videos and podcasts related to social work practice. Write about personal reactions and how your learning applies to agency ethical and professional practice

h) Books

The following books may provide new perspectives and unique opportunities for students to immerse themselves in content and rich understanding in relevant areas. This is not an exhaustive list and all reading activities should be accompanied by further reflection, discussion, and/or connection to a student's practice area, placement agency, or client population. Some book entries include suggestions for reflecting and processing their content. Please check the WVU and/or public library system for availability.

1. Ain't I a Woman: Black Women and Feminism by bell hooks
A groundbreaking work of feminist history and theory analyzing the complex relations between various forms of oppression. Ain't I a Woman examines the impact of sexism on black women during slavery, the historic devaluation of black womanhood, black male sexism, racism within the recent women's movement, and black women's involvement with feminism.
2. American Paper Son: A Chinese Immigrant in the Midwest by Wayne Hung Wong
A story of one such Chinese immigrant who came to Wichita, Kansas, in 1935 as a thirteen-year-old "paper son" to help his father's restaurant there. This vivid first-person account addresses significant themes in Asian American history through the lens of Wong's personal stories.

3. An Unquiet Mind: A Memoir of Moods and Madness by Kay Redfield Jamison
In her bestselling classic, An Unquiet Mind, Kay Redfield Jamison changed the way we think about moods and madness. Dr. Jamison is one of the foremost authorities on manic-depressive (bipolar) illness; she has also experienced it firsthand. For even while she was pursuing her career in academic medicine, Jamison found herself succumbing to the same exhilarating highs and catastrophic depressions that afflicted many of her patients, as her disorder launched her into ruinous spending sprees, episodes of violence, and an attempted suicide. Jamison examines bipolar illness from the dual perspectives of the healer and the healed, revealing both its terrors and the cruel allure that at times prompted her to resist taking medication. An Unquiet Mind is a memoir of enormous candor, vividness, and wisdom—a deeply powerful book that has both transformed and saved lives.

4. A Trick of The Light by Lois Metzger
Synopsis: This story, narrated through the voice of an eating disorder—anorexia—details the struggles of 14-year-old Mike as he overcomes his insecurities and body image issues.
What Social Workers Can Learn: Delve into the psyche of a teenage boy with anorexia to develop insight on how to combat eating disorders.

5. Blackout: Remembering the Things I Drank to Forget by Sarah Hepola
For Sarah, alcohol was the “gasoline of all adventure”. Spending her evenings at cocktail parties and dark bars where she proudly stayed until last call. Drinking felt like freedom, part of her birthright as a strong, enlightened 21st century woman. But there was a price. She often blacked out, waking up with a blank space where four hours should be. A memoir of unblinking honesty and poignant, laugh-out loud humor, BLACKOUT is the story of a woman stumbling into a new kind of adventure – the sober life she never wanted. Shining light into her blackouts, she discovers the person she buried, as well as the confidence, intimacy, and creativity she once believed came only from a bottle. Her tale will resonate with anyone who has been forced to reinvent or struggled in the face of necessary change. It's about giving up the thing you cherish most – but getting yourself back in return.

6. Double Double By Ken Grimes
Synopsis: A mother and son explore their experiences of alcoholism and recovery together.
What Social Workers Can Learn: Compare mother and son as they confront addiction and define their own terms of success in recovery.

7. From the Front Lines: Student Cases in Social Work Ethics By Juliet Cassuto Rothman

Synopsis: Provides students with a decision-making process for ethical issues. "Now a part of the Core Competencies Series, "From the Front Lines: Student Cases in Social Work Ethics," "4/e" helps students develop a method of decision-making while providing examples with a number of case studies. Part One teaches readers the rationale for each part of the decision-making process and the tools needed to address it professionally. Part Two encompasses a thorough presentation and consideration of cases that address ethical dilemmas, issues, and problems which occur in social work practice. This text also encourages students to explore their own values and how they are used in everyday life as well as professionally. Connecting Core Competencies series -- Each chapter highlights the core competencies and practice behavior examples found in the Educational Policy and Accreditation Standards (EPAS) set by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). Critical thinking questions throughout reinforces these connections. Learning Goals Upon completing this book, readers will be able to:

Develop a method for decision making for ethical dilemmas, issues, and problems which occur in socialwork practice. Explore their own values. Relate their decision making to real world examples.

8. Healing Neen By Tonier Cain

Synopsis: The transcendent story of Tonier "Neen" Cain's emergence from drug addiction, multiple incarcerations and two decades of homelessness to become a tireless advocate and educator on the devastating impact of childhood abuse . . . and the need to rethink how we treat the shattered adults severely traumatized children become.

9. I Have the Right To: A High School Survivor's Story of Sexual Assault, Justice and Hope by Chessy Prout and Jenn Abelson

The numbers are staggering nearly one in five girls ages fourteen to seventeen have been the victim of a sexual assault or attempted sexual assault. This is the true story of one of those girls. In 2014, Chessy Prout was a freshman at St. Paul's School, a prestigious boarding school in New Hampshire, when a senior boy sexually assaulted her as part of a ritualized game of conquest. Chessy bravely reported her assault to the police and testified against her attacker in court. Then, in the face of unexpected backlash from her once-trusted school community, she shed her anonymity to help other survivors find their voice. This memoir is more than an account of a horrific event. It takes a magnifying glass to the institutions that turn a blind eye to such behavior and a society that blames victims rather than perpetrators. Chessy's story offers real, powerful solutions to upend rape culture as we know it today. Prepare to be inspired by this remarkable young woman and her story of survival, advocacy, and hope in the face of unspeakable trauma.

10. *I Hate You. Don't Leave Me: Understanding the Borderline Personality

By: Jerold J. Kreisman, Hal Straus

People with Borderline Personality Disorder experience such violent and frightening mood swings that they often fear for their sanity. They can be euphoric one moment, despairing and depressed the next. There are an estimated 10 million sufferers of BPD living in America today—each displaying remarkably similar symptoms: a shaky sense of identity; sudden violent outbursts; oversensitivity to real or imagined rejection; brief, turbulent love affairs; frequent periods of intense depression; eating disorders, drug abuse, and other self-destructive tendencies; and an irrational fear of abandonment and an inability to be alone. For years BPD was difficult to describe, diagnose, and treat. But now, for the first time, Dr. Jerold J. Kreisman and health writer Hal Straus offer much-needed professional advice, helping victims and their families to understand and cope with this troubling, shockingly widespread affliction.

11. Invisible Nations: Homeless Families in America By Richard Schweid

Every year, more than 2.5 million children are left homeless in the United States and the number of such families continues to rise annually. In every state, children are living in small quarters packed in with relatives-- in cars, in motel rooms, or in emergency shelters. In this vividly written narrative, experienced journalist Richard Schweid takes us on a spirited journey through this "invisible nation," giving us front-row dispatches of suffering families on the edge. Based on in-depth reporting from five major cities, Invisible Nation looks backward at the historical context of family homelessness as well as forward at what needs to be done to alleviate this widespread, although often hidden, poverty. Invisible Nation is a riveting must-read for everyone who cares about inequality, poverty and family life.

12. *It Gets Better: Coming Out, Overcoming Bullying, and Creating a Life Worth

Living by Dan Savage Synopsis: In response to several highly publicized incidents of LGBT youth being bullied and driven to suicide, Savage began the It Gets Better Project, which began as a series of videos and evolved into a book of essays, written by celebrities and non-celebrities alike, that aims to engage young people who are struggling with their fears and feelings. What Social Workers Can Learn: Build your capacity to provide hope when hope is scarce, which is applicable to LGBT youth, but also to anyone who is struggling.

13. Saving Normal by Allen Frances

Synopsis: Frances, who has been “credited with spearheading the anti-DSM-5 efforts,” delves further into what he believes to be over-diagnosis and over-medication of the public.

What Social Workers Can Learn: Learn where you stand on the use of diagnoses and prescription medication. Read the scathing critique of DSM-5 and then use your clinical judgment accordingly.

14. Stir It Up: Lessons in Community Organizing and Advocacy by Rinku Sen

Synopsis: The author uses her experiences rallying for economic justice with women’s groups to outline priorities and strategies to advance the mission of social change groups.

What Social Workers Can Learn: Learn how to rally for justice and strategize for social change.

15. The New Jim Crow: Mass Incarceration in the Age of Colorblindness by Michelle Alexander

Synopsis: Once in a great while a book comes along that changes the way we see the world and helps to fuel a nationwide social movement. The New Jim Crow is such a book. Praised by Harvard Law professor Lani Guinier as “brave and bold,” this book directly challenges the notion that the election of Barack Obama signals a new era of colorblindness. With dazzling candor, legal scholar Michelle Alexander argues that “we have not ended racial caste in America; we have merely redesigned it.” By targeting black men through the War on Drugs and decimating communities of color, the U.S. criminal justice system functions as a contemporary system of racial control—relegating millions to a permanent second-class status—even as it formally adheres to the principle of colorblindness. In the words of Benjamin Todd Jealous, president and CEO of the NAACP, this book is a “call to action.”

Acknowledgement: Thank you, University of Northern Iowa! This is a guide that MSW student created when she was the Rod Library Youth Collection's GA. It provides lots of resources on children and mental health, with a special focus on materials for a youth audience, including books for a wide range of ages. This guide is intended to provide a comprehensive list of books organized by age level that address topics of mental illness. Some of the books are nonfiction and informational, some have characters that are coping with a mental illness themselves, and others have characters with a family member, friend, or other loved one with a mental illness.
