

UK Social Work Doctoral Dissertations

- Abraham, Glenn (2011). Prisoners serving sentences of life without parole: A qualitative study and survey.
- Adedoyin, Christson (2011). A systematic review of evidence-based cancer education media interventions to improve cancer screening behavior among African-Americans in the United States.
- Badger, Karen (2005). Catastrophe in the workplace: impact of indirect trauma exposure on hospital social workers.
- Barnett, Carol Southworth (2004). The relationship of social support, optimism, and sense of control to post-heart transplant success.
- Biermann, Sarabeth (2012). Human capital, mental health, substance use, and social support among low-income women.
- Bryan, Valerie Louise (2005). Individual and community-level socioeconomic factors and drug court outcomes: analysis and implications.
- Cohen, Deborah A. (2014). Obtaining genuine family involvement: Unpacking the system of care values and principles.
- Cole, Jennifer Ellen (2007). Actors influencing interprofessional collaboration on sexual assault response teams (SART).
- Collins-Carmago, Crystal (2005). A study of the relationships among effective supervision, organizational culture promoting evidence-based practice, worker self-efficacy, and outcomes in public child welfare.
- Eslinger, Jessica (2013). Factors affecting end of treatment symptom severity for children receiving trauma-informed evidence-based treatment.
- Geurin, Danni Lynn (2010). Sentencing youth in court: The impact of a social work field education program.
- Hesterberg, Latonya Joyce (2005). Evaluation of a problem-based learning practice course : do self-efficacy, critical thinking, and assessment skills improve?
- Hunn, Vanessa (2006). Depression as a barrier to employment in the TANF population.
- Johnson, Steve (2013). Assessing self-efficacy of cultural competence with lesbian, gay, and bisexual clients: A comparison of training methods with graduate social work students.
- Jones, Blake Lee (2004). Citizen participation in public child welfare : a multi-state study of citizen review panel members' perceptions of effectiveness.

- Kaplan, Laura Ellen (2003). Moral reasoning and ethics education : a study of MSW social workers.
- Karolich, Robert Leo (2005). A study of psychosocial characteristics that promote positive health management in older adults with end-stage renal disease.
- Kamlager, Carolee (2013). Identity making process of individuals with mild intellectual disabilities.
- Loeffler, Diane Nicole (2006). Predicting and understanding mortgage repayment outcomes among low income households in Central Appalachia.
- Luftman, Virginia H. (2009). An analysis of the teachable moment in the context of a diagnosis of lung cancer within the family.
- Macke, Caroline A. (2010). Adult romantic attachment as a risk factor for intimate partner violence victimization.
- Meier, Michael John (2003). Exploring narcissism in a group of male batterers.
- Mongan, Phil (2013). Rampage school shootings: A content analysis of media and scholarly account of perpetration factors associated with the phenomenon.
- Narevic, Egle (2005). Socialization factors in problem recognition and desire for help among incarcerated substance abusers.
- Ojha, Mamta (2011). Job demands, social support, and work/family conflict among immigrant and domestic workers in the United States.
- Olson, Carol Jarvis (2002). Influence of early-life psychosocial trauma, family adversity, and selected other variables in the career choice of social workers.
- Platt, Phyllis Ann (2008). Innovation diffusion and the institutionalization of Kentucky's family resource and youth services centers : a multiple case study.
- Rhee, Stephanie (2013). Acculturative stress and depressive symptoms among Korean immigrant elders residing in non-Korean enclaves.
- Reid, Caroline (2011). Factors associated with father involvement among low-income, noncustodial fathers.
- Sanders, Scott Gregory (2006). Ethics education in social work: comparing outcomes of graduate social work students from discrete and infused programs.
- Shannon, Lisa Michele (2007). Understanding motivations and intentions for long-term substance abuse treatment among pregnant, drug-dependent women.
- Stevenson, Erin (2012). Examining chronic non-cancer pain among a sample of individuals in opioid treatment programs.

Thomas, Jacky (2011). Intrapyschic predictors of professional quality of life mindfulness, empathy, and emotional separation.

Tindall, Michele Staton (2004). Criminality, substance use, and social support: an exploratory study with incarcerated women.

Wahler, Elizabeth (2012). The relationship of social stress, economic hardship, and Psychological distress to addiction severity among Kentucky substance abuse treatment participants.

Wermeling, Linda. (2006). Why social workers leave the profession. A study of retention.